

U.S. ACCUSES CHINA OF WAR 'HYSTERIA'

Kentucky Youth is Arrested Here; Admits Two Burglaries

Is Questioned Further by City Police

Stain Tin Shop, Owen Home Robberies Are Admitted

A Kentucky youth who has admitted stealing two cars and burglarizing two places was being questioned further today at the Harrisburg city hall, Chief of Police Loren Travelstead announced.

The youth is Robert Frazier Lanham, 20 years old, of Marion, Ky., Travelstead said, who revealed that Lanham had admitted burglarizing the Stain tin shop in Harrisburg and the Woodrow Owen house at Liberty.

The tin shop burglary was a week ago last night and the money out of a Coke machine and a small radio were missing. Clothing, silverware, a shotgun and other items were taken from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen last Friday.

Picked Up for Questioning

Lanham was arrested at 8:45 p. m. yesterday by City Police-men Pat Atkinson and Paul Abney in a local billiard parlor. They picked him up for questioning about local burglaries.

Travelstead said that Lanham has admitted he stole a two-tone blue Buick, about a 1950 model car, in Paducah on Nov. 30 and made several trips to Harrisburg in it before abandoning the machine. Police recently had been on the lookout for a car of that description.

Then yesterday at 5 p. m., he told officers, he stole at Paducah a 1953 Ford Victoria sedan with Tennessee license plates and returned to Harrisburg, where he was picked up by the two city policemen.

Travelstead said that he was wearing a pair of shoes stolen from the Owen's home when arrested, and had admitted that he got the shoes there. He said that of the Owen loot, he pawned a suit of clothing, the silverware, shotgun and shells at an East St. Louis pawn shop, and threw five shirts into Crab Orchard lake en route to East St. Louis.

Lived Here in 1950

At Stain's, he told officers, he stole a radio which he pawned at Paducah and took the money from the Coke machine. He cut his hand while breaking into the building and it was bleeding when he started working on the safe in the office.

Lanham told officers that he worked the combination but just as he started to open the safe door his coat sleeve hit the combination and knocked it off; and because his hand was bleeding so profusely he gave up working it again and left.

Paducah authorities were en route to Harrisburg this morning to recover the auto stolen yesterday.

Travelstead said that Lanham was being questioned about other recent burglaries in Harrisburg. He said that the youth lived here with his family for a short time in 1950.

Dr. Sheppard Denies Beating His Son; Refutes Testimony

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard testified as his own star witness today that he spanked but never beat his 7-year-old son and never told a friend that head injuries were the easiest to feign to collect insurance.

Dr. Sheppard is accused of beating his wife to death last July 4 after quarreling with her about his attentions to other women. He says he went to her rescue when an intruder entered her home and twice was knocked out by her assailant.

The testimony about a beating he gave his son Sam (Chip) Jr., was given by Thomas Weigle, a first cousin of the slain Marilyn Sheppard.

Weigle had said that one Sunday two years ago as he sat watching television with Dr. Sheppard, Chip touched his father's left arm slightly and Dr. Sheppard began beating the boy so unmercifully that Weigle had to leave the room.

Dr. Sheppard said that was not at all the case. He told the seven-man, five-woman jury that he and his wife had been trying to break "a little tendency" the child had to strike his mother with toys. He said Marilyn had asked him to spank the boy because he was getting so big that her spanking didn't hurt him any more.

On that occasion, he said, while watching a cowboy and Indian movie, "Chip came over and hit me with a toy tomahawk across the shoulder."

"I took him across my knee and gave him a few licks across his back end," Dr. Sheppard continued.

He said the boy's pride was "very definitely hurt," but that from that time on he dropped the tendency to hit people.

Tells of Head Injuries

Mrs. J. Spencer Houk, wife of the mayor of suburban Bay Village, testified that she saw Marilyn Sheppard enter her home and was twice knocked out by her assailant.

Circuit Judge C. Ross Reynolds announced that there will be no more jury cases until principals are notified and that jurors do not have to report until they are notified.

Eisenhower to Have Greater Support: Hall

GOP Chairman Says President Will Find Republican Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said today President Eisenhower will find "even greater support and unity" among Republican members of Congress in the next two years despite Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's break with the President.

Hall said he had personally checked key Republican leaders throughout the country and sampled opinion among Senate and House members.

"It is noteworthy that they almost uniformly and unhesitatingly went to the support of President Eisenhower, even though they took differing positions on the McCarthy issue in the recent Senate proceedings," Hall said.

The President at his news conference Wednesday referred to Hall a reporter's question about the impact of the GOP on McCarthy's blast. McCarthy accused the President of making a "shrinking show of weakness" on the Communist issue.

Hall sampled opinion.

Hall gave his answer today, saying he had delayed it 24 hours in order to check "key Republican leaders around the country and take a representative sample of Senate and House opinion."

He said Republicans in Congress "almost uniformly" took the President's side and that "my own survey confirmed this on a much broader scale."

"It convinces me," Hall said, "that the President will find even greater unity and support among Republican members of both the Senate and House during the next two years."

He said he is "equally certain that the overwhelming majority of the American people, both Republicans and Democrats alike, will continue to give the President and the Republican program their support, and in even greater measure than before."

"The Lunatic Fringe"

Meanwhile, Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the special committee which recommended censure of McCarthy, scoffed at the idea that any Republicans, except perhaps the "lunatic fringe," would form a new political party around the Wisconsin senator.

He made that comment to reporters after reading Wednesday's news conference remarks by President Eisenhower about McCarthy's break this week with the administration.

Mr. Eisenhower termed the GOP a party of "progressive moderation" and said if any persons want to form a new party it is their own business.

He refused to be drawn into any direct reply to McCarthy who accused the President Tuesday of a "shrinking show of weakness" toward Communism at home and in Asia.

Waterlogged Congressional Committee Searching for Drought, Gets Snowbound

HALEAKALA, Maui, T. H. (AP)—A waterlogged congressional committee, scouring the Hawaiian islands for the drought it was supposed to investigate, climaxed its tour Wednesday by getting snow-bound.

The incident occurred atop Hawaii's 10,000-foot Mount Haleakala, much to the embarrassment of Mrs. Elizabeth Farrington, Hawaii's congressional delegate and one of the nine-member House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

But it was not the first day of chagrin for Mrs. Farrington. The drought-seeking congressmen arrived at Honolulu Nov. 28—the day the islands got 5.5 inches of rain that killed two persons in flood waters.

During the next few days the committee enjoyed a total of 75 minutes of cloudless skies.

Monday, the committee—still interested in the drought—toured Kauai Island in cloudy weather with intermittent showers.

Tuesday, they reached Maui. So did the rain. In cats-and-dogs quantity.

By today the search for a drought had become a hunt by individual committee members for some dry spot. Instead they got snow—three inches of it accompanied by blizzard winds.

Soon after the aloha-shirted congressmen reached the 9,000 foot level on Haleakala, the "subversive" weather hit.

The only foresighted member of the party, Rep. E. Y. Berry (R-SD), buttoned his sheepskin tightly about him and chortled:

"Makes me sort of homesick."

Also homesick but not so well prepared were Reps. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.) and Wesley A. D'Ewart (R-Mont.). They were clad in aloha shirts.

Rep. William Dawson (R-Utah), snuffed the wind-juggled snow expertly and said he thought it was all a hoax pulled by the Visitors Bureau.

"It looks synthetic to me," he said knowingly. "Not like the real stuff in Utah."

Ellis Truck Overturns Near Carrier Mills

Traffic was rerouted on Route 45 in east Carrier Mills for three hours this morning while an Ellis truck, overturned on the pavement, was moved by wreckers.

Driver of the big tractor-trailer job was R. W. Morgan, 38, of 15 South Granger street, Harrisburg. His injuries were termed slight. Both cab and trailer were damaged.

Morgan was en route from Memphis to Harrisburg when the truck overturned around 7:15 a. m. State Policemen Roy A. Lane and Guthrie Alexander routed Route 45 traffic around a block in Carrier Mills while the truck lay across the pavement. The road was cleared around 10:15.

Lane said that one wheel of the truck left the pavement on a curve and went down on the soft shoulder. In attempting to get the wheel back on the pavement the truck jack-knifed and overturned.

The trailer was loaded with miscellaneous freight when it overturned.

Love-Struck Printer Jailed After Kidnaping Pretty Girl Reporter

LA PORTE, Ind. (AP)—A sullen, love-struck printer sat silently in his cell today charged with disorderly conduct and assault for kidnaping of a pretty girl reporter who spurned his marriage offer.

Authorities said Robert Panek, 25, had little to say about the two-hour, terror-filled auto ride in which he forced Abbey Johnson, 22, to accompany him at gun point.

"I guess it was silly, wasn't it?" was Panek's only comment on the escapade Wednesday afternoon.

The handsome apprentice printer for the La Porte Herald-Argus abducted Miss Johnson from the newspaper's city room shortly after they argued about his marriage proposal. He returned her to the newspaper office unharmed after the auto trip along county roads near the city and then voluntarily surrendered to police.

The blond Miss Johnson, near collapse after the ordeal, said she met Panek in the newspaper's photo room shortly after noon. He repeated his proposal and she again refused, she said.

A Wild Ride

Panek raced home and returned with a .22 caliber rifle. He forced Abbey into his car and then sped into the country, sometimes speeding at 80 m.p.h.

"I was scared stiff while driving around and tried to keep my mind off our affair," Abbey said.

"We went south and ended up at the water pumping station and at that time I said I wonder if anyone has contacted my mother about this, it would kill her."

That apparently made an impression on the young Korean War veteran. He turned the car around and drove back to the paper immediately, she said.

He emptied his gun and gave it to her before setting her free, saying "I don't want to hurt you."

Tried to Discourage Suitor

Abbey, an employee of the Herald-Argus for about 13 months, said she had been dating Panek from February until September of this year.

"I was trying to discourage further dates because he was interested in marriage and I wasn't," the girl explained.

"Once he stated it crossed his mind to kill me, and mentioned that he had thought of going to Chicago to kill my father as he thought there was influence from my parents."

Abbey's father, Emil Johnson, is president of the Sprague Iron Works, Chicago. She is a graduate of the University of Illinois School of Journalism.

Authorities indicated they did not believe they would press kidnap charges against Panek because of the short time he held the girl.

Hit False Spy Charges Against Airmen

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States today accused the Communists of "stirring up war hysteria" within Red China with false spy charges against American airmen and accusations of aggression against the American Navy.

The accusation was leveled by U. S. Delegate C. D. Jackson as the United Nations Special Political committee began debating a Russian charge that the U. S. Navy was responsible for "acts of aggression" against the Communist-held China Coast and islands lying off it.

It was a preliminary skirmish to a major battle later today when the General Assembly presses for a quick vote on a resolution demanding the release of American airmen and all other captured personnel of U. N. forces in the Korean war still held by the Peiping regime.

The assembly was prepared to sit through the night, if necessary to get a vote.

No Change Indicated

Peiping, in a belligerent broadcast heard in Tokyo, made it clear that it had no intention of releasing the 11 American airmen it has sentenced as "spies" to jail terms ranging from four to seven years.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev presented a resolution to the special committee demanding condemnation of the United States for "aggressive" acts in the Formosa area and calling on Washington to "take steps" to end them.

The liberation of Taiwan (Formosa) is the sovereign right and the domestic affair of China," Sobolev said, contending that any effort to prevent an invasion of the Nationalist island stronghold would be "illegal interference" in Red China's internal affairs.

Jackson said the charge was another attempt to stir up anti-American feeling as part of a long campaign to foment war hysteria among China's millions.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate, said the Communist case had collapsed with an admission by Russia's Jacob A. Malik that the 11 airmen were captured in full military uniform. His view was supported by other Western delegates.

Heavy Majority Seen

The 60-nation assembly appeared ready to return 45 to 50 votes in favor of the resolution instructing Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to negotiate with Peiping for the immediate release of all servicemen of all countries who fought for the U. N. in Korea and who are still detained by the Reds.

Although the current action was prompted by Peiping's announcement it had sentenced the 11 Americans to long prison terms on spy charges, the U. N. resolution would apply to all 2,840 Allied troops, most of them South Koreans, still held by the Communists.

British Support Cheered

The assembly's mood was shown Wednesday when the delegates gave British Minister of State Anthony Nutting a rare and rousing round of applause when he said:

"This is a United Nations issue. These airmen are not just members of the American Air Force; they are soldiers of the world organization sent to fight by the will and the call of the U. N. Though they cannot hear us, we can and must speak for them."

His speech touched

No Room At The Inn

Beauty and drama, shepherds and wise men. These and the story of a miracle are colorfully portrayed on many of the loveliest Christmas cards you'll see this year. Manger scenes, the Holy Land itself, Mary and Joseph seeking shelter at the inn have all been recreated—as they may have looked on that first Christmas Eve. Like the inspired Renaissance artists, Christmas card designers, too, have found the Madonna and Child an irresistible subject. Rich twilight color combinations accent the serene reverence these handsome designs convey. At bottom center, the Magi's desert route is reproduced on sturdy parchment similar to that used in medieval monasteries. A Christmas creche peopled by wax figurines was photographed in full color, bottom-right. While countless other graphic arts techniques also help enhance the meaning of St. Luke's familiar words—"And she laid him in a manger; because there was no room for him in the inn."

Deepest mines on earth are gold diggings in the South African Transvaal, where men labor nearly 9,000 feet below the surface.

Madness In The Spring

By Elvira Dannison

XXIII
Wade Daggett spoke. "Any decision is risky. Greg. That's the penalty of being a free man. You have to make your own decisions. Sometimes I think the whole western world is hag-ridden by fear of the responsibility of freedom, and the eastern world has surrendered it altogether. The Age of Anxiety. The Age of Longing. The Age of Self. Those words make me sick. Stop being so afraid of taking a chance."

Greg shook his head. Circumstances were against him. So was the May night. He found himself laughing. They started back to the trailer.

After a long pause Greg asked, "Where does Kirby expect to sleep?"

"Well, now," Daggett began uncomfortably, "of course, there isn't room for an extra person in the trailer. Kirby can hardly go to a hotel because someone would be sure to spot him. There's no point in that until—" he broke off and Greg tried to see his face in the deepening twilight. The old man was up to something.

Daggett, aware of Greg's suspicion, leaned craftily on the younger man's arm, accentuating his helpfulness. "And it would be tough on Kirby because he is so afraid that he will be asked for his papers."

"So I am elected to find a room for myself somewhere after I get Hannah settled for the night."

With shameless hypocrisy Daggett seized on this. "Since you suggested it yourself—as long as you don't mind."

"Oh, no, I don't mind. Perhaps I can find a nice homey haystack somewhere and curl up with an apple and a good book," Greg grinned. "You know, it is getting to be a challenge to see just how long I can keep you out of the clink."

When the two men returned to the trailer, Rupert and Kirby were playing checkers. Kirby had the indefinable air of a man who had been there all his life, an immovable sort of air. He had been Master of Ceremonies so long that he had instinctively acquired the manner of a host.

"Where's Hannah?" Daggett asked.

Rupert shrugged. "I thought she was walking with you; she went out right after you did. Then she came back a few minutes ago and left a note."

Greg ripped open the envelope and handed the letter to Daggett. When the old man had finished reading he gestured with his head and Greg helped him into the bedroom and closed the door. The old man sank down on the side of the bed.

"She has gone," he said in consternation. "She wrote, 'Thanks so much, Uncle Wade, for all your kindness, but I've imposed on it too long. I'll always be grateful for the most wonderful holiday of my life. Love, Hannah.'"

He looked up at Greg. "She has gone and she hasn't a penny." His eyes were accusing. "She must have heard what you said about not wanting her to go along."

Daggett sat turning the note over and over. He was deeply worried and more upset than he wanted Greg to know. The younger man found himself on the defensive. And he too was worried. Hannah was a long way from home and friends, a long way from anyone who would lend a helping hand to a stranded girl.

"She must be crazy to pull a stunt like this!" Greg exclaimed. "She is still battered by what happened to her at that fair," Daggett said. "She never speaks about it, but being jilted like that shook her self-confidence. If we were to fail her, if she were to feel that we don't value her, it would be the finishing touch to her self-esteem. She has no one else to turn to."

Greg started to speak and closed his mouth. Finally he said, "I'll find her. I'll bring her back." Daggett brightened. "She can't have gone far. And, Greg—make her understand we want her with us. Be sure you make her understand that."

"She'll come back," Greg promised, "if I have to drag her by the hair of her head."

"Look in the luggage compartment of the car first. See if her suitcases are still there."

But the suitcases were gone.

The evening retained much of the soft warmth of the day and the sky was still opaline. Later on, it would be very dark for there was no moon. The light was kind to the trailer park as a shaded lamp is kind to an aging woman's face, accentuating the eyes, concealing the sagging muscles and the lines that stamp it.

There were only two trailers in the park aside from Daggett's. The sudden flare of a match, the glow of a cigarette, punctuated the twilight. And by some miracle no restless soul had been driven to shatter the silence with a radio. Somewhere in the fading light a man spoke and a woman answered. Always two.

Greg was aware of his loneliness as he had not been aware since adolescence. Now as then it seemed intolerable. There must be some way of breaking through his isolation, of reaching other people, of belonging. Some way that was better than the evasion of work or the unsubstantiality of dreams.

Greg lighted a cigarette and hastened his pace. He had to find Hannah.

At least, he consoled himself, she wouldn't do anything silly. But if she felt that she should leave them, why hadn't she waited till morning?

Rep. Velde, Bride Sail to Panama For Honeymoon

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.) and his bride, the former Mrs. Dolores Anderson, sail to Panama today on a honeymoon trip.

Velde, 44, and Mrs. Anderson, 38, were married Wednesday night in a simple 15-minute ceremony at the Overlea Baptist church in Baltimore. They left immediately for New York and will board the S. S. Cristobal here for the trip to the Canal Zone.

The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. Francis F. Lynch and attended by 75 close friends of the bride and groom.

The bride was Velde's personal secretary when the Illinois Republican first went to Washington. She later became a reporter for the House Un-American Activities committee of which Velde is chairman.

Both Velde and his bride have been married previously but their former spouses are dead. Velde's wife died in 1952. Each has a son and daughter by their previous marriages. Both are grandparents.

Geologist Sees New Ice Age In 10,000 Years

CHICAGO (AP) — A new ice age may bury cities like Chicago, New York, Berlin and Moscow under 1,000 feet of ice in 10,000 years, a geologist said Wednesday night.

Cesare Emiliani, research associate at the University of Chicago Institute for Nuclear Studies, said there is reason to believe the earth is entering a cycle similar to those which sent giant caps of ice ranging south from the Polar region at least four times previously.

Million TV Sets Built By Admiral Last Year

The Admiral corporation is the country's largest producer of TV sets. It made approximately 1,000,000 last year and expects to equal that production this year. Although some 95 manufacturers produce TV sets, more than 3,000,000 of the 30,000,000 now in use in this country were made by Admiral.

After the war it entered the appliance business — refrigerators, ranges, freezers, room air conditioners and dehumidifiers. The Admiral company, known originally as the Continental Radio and Television corporation, began business in the corner of a borrowed garage only 20 years ago. Ross D. Siragusa, Admiral's president, and three associates invested $3,400 in the business.

HOLLYWOOD — An autopsy was scheduled for today into the death of Gladys George, veteran stage and screen star, who was believed to have committed suicide by taking an overdose of barbiturates.

Traditional Holiday Pies Have Interesting History

It's pumpkin-pie and mince-pie time again! These traditional favorites in America since before the War for Independence now are being featured by bakers throughout America, to grace the tables in millions of homes at the Holiday Season.

The exact origin of mince pie has been lost in antiquity, but it is known that the pie's ingredients once symbolized the gifts of the Magi and its shape, originally oval, represented the cradle of the Christ Child.

Frequent reference to this Christmas favorite in English literature dating as far back as the Fifteenth century, enabled the American Bakers Association to reconstruct the appearance and contents of the mince pie and customs surrounding it over the centuries.

Always considered an essential part in the Christmas observances in England, the pies once were more of a main course than a dessert. They contained a large portion of boiled pork mixed with minced dates, cloves, mace, raisins, salt and ginger during the reign of King Henry V.

Boiled pork was replaced by finely shredded mutton as the chief ingredient in the mince-meat pies at the time of Henry VIII, Edward VI. and Queens Mary and Elizabeth. Thick rolls of dough were used to line large deep-dished dishes and this in turn was covered with another layer of thick pastry to form the top crust of the pie.

In America, the fruit content of the pie gradually was increased until today the mince pie has become a mixture of fruit and spices, with the addition of meat optional.

While the pumpkin pie always has been synonymous with the holiday season in America, it has changed its appearance and taste much more drastically over the years than has its mince-meat cousin.

Shortly after the Pilgrims arrived in the New World, failure of the grain crops resulted in a shortage of flour for pastry. However, their craving for bakery delicacies was satisfied because of the never-failing pumpkin crop which the Indians had taught them to raise. Pilgrim women used pumpkin flour to make pastry goods and the filling also was made from the pumpkin after it had been cooked and sweetened with sugar and honey.

For many years before, a variety of gourd similar to the American pumpkin was cultivated and eaten throughout Europe. An early English recipe called for the "Pom-pri" itself to be stuffed with apples.

It was not until the sea trade, on which the early colonists depended, was free to bring in the spices of the West Indies and the Orient, that the pumpkin pie began to taste anything like it does today. And it was the early Pennsylvania Dutch cooks who are credited with developing the flat pie as we know it now and with making the greatest improvements in all types of pies.

Knitter said the man wore a white or ed when I ran across something interesting in The Daily Register files for 1942 while looking for something else.

It was Chuck's last year at HTS and the season had just ended. There was a story—I guess Jack Prowell wrote it—which gave statistics on the Bull Dog halfback.

It was a year for building—there were just three seniors including Hunsinger on the first team—and the record was two wins, seven losses.

And in spite of the record, here is what he did for the season:

The Bull Dogs gained 947 yards rushing, 618 yards by Hunsinger in 87 tries for an average of 7.1 per try.

The Bull Dogs gained 706 yards passing. Hunsinger passed for 71 yards and was the receiver on 19 for 367 yards, or an average of 19 yards per pass.

Hunsinger gained 717 yards on 32 punt returns, kickoffs and pass interception runbacks for an average of 22.3 yards per carry.

Think what the figures might have been with a winning team!

Mrs. Edward Aeschliman Tells of World Day of Prayer Service in Africa

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Aeschliman, brother-in-law and sister of Miss Bernice Patterson of this city, who spent several years as missionaries in Peiping, China, have been in Africa for two years.

At Umtali, South Rhodesia, their large Hilltop Methodist church has recently completed a fine new education building and social center. Sunday services in the church are usually attended by 900 to 1,000 worshippers. The choir of beautiful voices sings a capella.

In a recent issue of the African Christian Advocate, Mrs. Aeschliman describes the observance of the World Day of Prayer.

She wrote to her sister, "It was for the African woman of Umtali their first international, interracial and interdenominational meeting.

"They were surprised to see women in costumes of several countries. These were most intriguing, especially the one from India and the American Campfire girl with her beads, bracelet and feathers.

Special Uniforms

"The Church filled rapidly. Members of the Rukwazano (W. S. C. S.) were easily recognized. They were dressed in their attractive blue cotton uniform, with red collar and cuffs and white turbans. The uniform is a much coveted acquisition as it takes long months of preparation before one is permitted to wear it. Bible study, prayers and hymns to be memorized and faithful attendance at meetings are required before a woman can become an active member. Only then may she wear the uniform and blue-cross pin. Women coming from other churches also had special uniforms, some with black skirts and red blouses, others in black and white, while a few wore small hats made from leopard skin instead of the usual turban.

"Seated at one side were 42 young African Girl Guides who had come with their very efficient and lovely leader, Mrs. Enoch Chiza, wife of the Hilltop church social worker. As one of the speakers on the program, Mrs. Chiza urged mothers to allow their daughters to join the Guides. Taking their pledge seriously and learning and obeying the Guide law did much toward developing Christian character, she said.

No Musical Instrument

"Softly but with full, rich voices, the choir of 30 women, many with babies tied on their backs, sang, 'The Lord Is in His Holy Temple,' a capella, as there was no instrument in the African church. And thus the service began! To be a part of that great audience of more than 400 women and girls meeting together in prayer and praise was a thrilling experience which one cannot forget.

"With a few adaptations the program prepared by the World Day of Prayer committee, and translated into Shona was followed. How intently those women listened to the beautiful choral reading of the story of the Good Samaritan. Spontaneous prayers of penitence and intercession that they might have life and have it to the full! Christ's presence very real. Special music by a quartette of young women teachers from the nearby government school added much to our enjoyment. Horizons were widened and interests deepened through the messages that were given by women who represented other countries.

"The closing dedication service led by the pastor's wife, Mai Chimbadzwa, touched the heart of each woman present as she repeated these words, 'We here dedicate our hearts and service to Thee, O Christ and ask that we may be worthy followers of Thine, our Lord and Redeemer, Amen!'

L&N, C&EI Granted Permit to Discontinue Two Southern Illinois Trains

SPRINGFIELD — Two railroads were granted authority to discontinue trains in the southern half of Illinois today on grounds they weren't making money.

The Illinois Commerce Commission authorized Louisville & Nashville railroad to discontinue trains 51 and 52 between Maunie and East St. Louis, on 30 days' notice. The trains lost $103,734 in the year ending June 30, the ICC said.

Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad was given permission to abandon trains 13 and 14 between Danville and Salem Yard, also on 30 days' notice.

The Commerce Commission said in the month of August these trains lost $4,800, and in September they carried a total of 55 passengers.

Rep. Short Says New Congress Will Reject UMT

WASHINGTON — Chairman Dewey Short of the House Armed Services committee predicted today that the new Congress again will reject Universal Military Training.

However, the Missouri Republican hinted he has relaxed somewhat his own long-standing opposition to UMT, and that he might vote for it under some conditions. Short led a successful house fight against UMT in 1952.

Other House and Senate sources agreed the administration's new and "modified" UMT plan faces, at best, a long hard fight. There was at least a possibility it would not get serious consideration.

A general outline of the new plan was announced last week. Assistant Defense Secretary Carter Burgess was due on Capitol Hill this afternoon to get in the administration's first links for the program with congressional leaders.

The plan calls for continuation of the draft, with about 20,000 men to be called each month for two years military service, and for initiation of a new training plan under which 100,000 young men yearly will get six months training plus extended duty in the active reserves.

The key to the plan's prospects in Congress appeared to lie in the method of selecting the 100,000 men to be called for training only. This has not been disclosed officially. Earlier suggestions that the choice be made by lottery ran into a stone wall of congressional objections.

Denney Named Warden at Pontiac Prison

SPRINGFIELD — James E. Denney, newly appointed warden of Pontiac State Prison, said today he plans to follow a policy of "fairness but strict discipline."

Denney, ex-sheriff of Champaign county and once a guard at Pontiac, told a reporter he looks forward to his return to the prison. He is slated to succeed Warden Daniel E. Bergan Dec. 15.

"I feel my experience and background will be very beneficial in helping me in my duties up there," Denney said.

Gov. William G. Stratton announced Denney's appointment Wednesday, after a conference with Public Safety Director Joseph D. Bibb. Bergan had asked to be relieved because of illness, Bibb said.

Denney has been state superintendent of prisons since Feb. 15, when he resigned after three years as Champaign county sheriff.

He was a deputy sheriff in 1946-50, and previously worked at Pontiac as a guard from 1941 to 1945, except for three years in the Army. He was wounded twice in military service.

No successor was named immediately to Denney as superintendent of prisons. The governor's office said it might be "days or weeks" before the job is filled.

Father and Two Daughters Die In Flash Fire

CHICAGO — A heroic father and his two daughters died Wednesday night when a flash fire swept through a home on Chicago's North Side.

Earl D. Jorgensen, 32, advertising representative for the Philadelphia Inquirer here, lost his life while trying to save his two daughters, Elizabeth, 5, and Margaret, 2.

Jorgensen's wife, Elizabeth, and his two sons, David, a twin of Elizabeth, and Eric, 4, escaped from the house with a maid.

Mrs. Jorgensen said that she and her husband were watching television when Eric and David ran into the room and said there was smoke in their bedroom.

The mother rushed the two boys to a neighbor's home while the father went to a third floor bedroom to awaken his daughters.

Jorgensen's body was found outside the children's bedroom, and the two girls were dead on arrival at a nearby hospital. All apparently died of suffocation.

IFL to Seek $4 Week Increase in Jobless Benefits

CHICAGO — The Illinois State Federation of Labor will seek a $4 weekly unemployment compensation benefit, an official said today.

Stanley L. Johnson, executive secretary of the AFL organization, said he was "optimistic" that the goal will be achieved in the next Legislature.

Johnson said the federation also seeks to extend unemployment coverage to employers of one or more persons, compared with the present six or more.

Another change sought would allow a uniform 26 weeks of payments rather than the present range of up to 26 weeks, Johnson said.

His optimism, Johnson said, is based partly on Gov. William G. Stratton's statement to the October convention that he favors "substantial increase" in unemployment compensation benefits.

Aide Says Dirksen Believes Eisenhower, McCarthy Both Wrong

CHICAGO — An aide to Sen. Everett Dirksen said the Illinois Republican believes both President Eisenhower and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy are wrong in their current controversy.

Harold Rainville, Dirksen's administrative assistant, said Wednesday that the senator was unavailable for comment on the issue.

"But if he were here he would say 'Two wrongs don't make a right. Both McCarthy and Ike were wrong in making their state-

Looking At Sports

By ED KIRKPATRICK

Equality's Invitational tournament—one of the earliest staged in Illinois each year—has been providing fans with the excitement, color and entertainment that could be desired. School officials are to be complimented on the fine manner in which the meet has progressed. Harry Walker is principal at the school and "Kay" Willis, coach.

We have observed that lots of work went into preparations for the tourney. A handy mimeographed program is made available to spectators, listing the names and shirt number of each player, the participating school's coach, principal and cheer leaders. School colors and nicknames. In addition, placards were made and placed above the seating section allotted to each school.

Needless to say, the new gymnasium has aided measurable in making for a better tournament, with better facilities for players and fans. Harry Naas is serving as official timer and Freeman Barnett as official scorer. Whistle tooters have been McCosky, Murphysboro; Peebles, Marion; Wilkins, W. Frankfort; and Songer, Fairfield. The former two will be on hand for the final round tonight.

The Equality's high school band has made a definite contribution to the affair, too, we feel. Under the direction of Guy Malin, the band has provided first class musical numbers during the intermissions and between games.

Even the unusual cropped up at the tourney Tuesday night when coach Joe Capshaw's Mills Prairie Panthers sat down in midcourt to stall out the remaining few minutes of play in their game against Ridgway. Officials, following the rules of the game, would not permit this, and Mills Prairie was warned to participate or forfeit. The game was called with three minutes and 43 seconds remaining. Ridgway was leading 83-39 at the time, and the score stood.

The Panthers had lost four of their starting five on personals at that point and a reserve had also been charged with five fouls. But Ridgway had also watched three of its starters ejected via personals. Incidentally, Coach Al Penman's crew is without the services of two key men, Pat Drone and John Mills. Drone, who has been confined to the hospital since last Friday, was released yesterday. Mills is suffering from a muscle ailment. Neither are likely to rejoin the squad for several days.

JUST DRIBBLING—Other new gymnasiums dedicated this fall besides the Equality gallop can be seen at Brookport, Cobden and Joppa. Joyner is a popular name on basketball teams this year. Equality, Shawneetown and Pope Co. each have one. . . . Tall-est cage player in Gallatin county this year, Ray Crayne, Equality, is still sidelined due to a shoulder injury. Crayne is 6-4. . . . If you haven't mailed in the "You Pick 'em" blank which appeared in Monday evening's Register, you'll have to hurry to get in this week's contest. Fill it out tonight and mail it or you'll be too late.

Bill McGowan, Dean Of American L. Umpires, Dies

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—Bill McGowan, dean of American league umpires, died at his home today of a heart attack. He was 58.

McGowan, who had umpired in the American league for 30 years, was retired on a lifetime pension only last Monday.

He had suffered a heart seizure last Saturday, but apparently was in good condition. His family said he was awakened this morning complaining of a chest pain and collapsed in his bed.

A rescue squad was summoned and administered oxygen for about an hour, but McGowan died before his physician arrived from a Washington hospital.

McGowan umpired in eight World Series and four All-Star games.

Shawneetown, Ridgway Play for Championship of Equality Tourney

Crab Orchard, Royalton Lose in Semi-Final Play

The championship game of the Equality invitational tournament will be an all-Gallatin county affair. This evening at 8:30 Shawneetown and Ridgway will meet for the first place trophy.

In last night's semi-final play Shawneetown won as expected from Crab Orchard, 61-47, but Ridgway pulled something of an upset by downing defending champion Royalton, 68-63.

Royalton and Crab Orchard will open tonight's session at 7 in a battle for third place honors.

Advance, pre-tourney dope, had Shawneetown, unbeaten this season, and last year's champ of the Equality tourney, Royalton, as the favorites to clash for top honors. Shawneetown lived up to expectations, but a scrapping bunch of Eagles from Ridgway dropped Royalton by the wayside.

Nolen Scores 27 Points

Shawneetown had trouble getting started and it wasn't until the final frame that the Indians were able to build a commanding lead. On the other hand, Ridgway threatened to make a run-away of their game, holding a decisive 15-point advantage after three quarters of play, but with regulars dropping out via the foul route, the Ridgway lead melted away to five points before the horn sounded.

Three Ridgway starters—Abell, Downen and Crayne—left the game with five personals and a couple of others were carrying four, which slowed down their aggressive play, when the game ended.

Shawneetown's Newsum, usually a sure scorer on jump shots from the side, experienced a cold night, picking up only one field goal and another dependable point maker, Spottsville, connected only twice for two pointers.

However, Jack Nolen, big center, was in rare form, getting 27 points with thirteen field goals and a free toss.

Indians Take Early Lead

Newsum had a good eye from the free throw line, hitting six in as many tries. Spottsville totalled 12 points, including eight charity tosses. Joyner had 10 points and Gunzel 4.

Graves was the big man in Crab Orchard's scoring with 17.

The winning Indians jumped off to an 8-point lead and the clock showed less than four minutes to play before Crab Orchard scored. Then in a minute's play the score was knotted 8-8 and after one quarter Crab Orchard held a 14-11 lead.

Crab Orchard dominated play in the first minutes of the second frame, leading 21-13 at one time.

Cardinals Swap Gerry Staley, Jablonski for Reds' Relief Pitcher

NEW YORK (AP)—Cincinnati Manager Gabe Paul said today he was seeking a pitcher after giving up reliever Frank Smith to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for third baseman Ray Jablonski and right-hander Gerry Staley. The swap was made here Wednesday night with Cincinnati still a slated to receive an unidentified minor leaguer from the Cards before the deal is completed. "We're quite happy with the deal," Paul said, "but I plan to be here for another day and there is a possibility that another trade could be made."

Paul admitted the Redlegs would welcome another pitcher and the best guess was that he was still trying to do business with Brooklyn in an effort to land right-hander Russ Meyer.

The Indians bounced back and tied the score at 23-23 with 58 seconds remaining and then went in front 25-23 just before half time. The winners were never headed the rest of the way, although it was close during the third frame.

In the last period Shawneetown outscored their opponents 25-14 and won going away, 61-47.

Ridgway started the scoring in the session's nightcap with Crayne getting loose for a two-pointer. Play was close throughout the half, the score being knotted 10-10 late in the opening frame and was 14-14 when the first horn sounded. Baskets were traded in the second quarter and at half time Coach Al Penman's Ridgway Eagles held a thin 28-25 advantage.

Reserves Hold On

The Eagles really went to work in the third quarter, scoring 23 points and holding Royalton to 11 and went into the final frame holding a 51-36 lead, but most of the Ridgway boys were burdened with several fouls.

As time ran out, so did Ridgway regulars as they were called for their fifth foul. However the reserves were equal to their task and held on to get away with a 68-63 victory.

Crayne, who scored the opening basket, was high point man of the game with 22 markers. Drone was close back with 19. Downen had 14 and four others broke into the scoring column.

Aikin, husky center, was Royalton's chief point producer with 20 and second high for the losing team was Sohn with 17 markers.

With neighboring rivals, Shawneetown and Ridgway, featured in the championship game, the Equality gym is expected to be filled and running over by tiptoff time to night.

Tiptoff on how far along the football thinking of the new U. S. Air Force Academy in Colorado is: ground will be broken for a 69,000-seat stadium next spring, an eight-game plebe schedule has been slated for 1955, a Denver sports writer is being lined up as the athletic publicity director, and it's fully expected Army and Navy will be on the '58 schedule.

There were four different groups in Washington and New York trying to pressure Army into a Sugar Bowl acceptance . . . two weeks before the Navy game . . .

There's a parallel to be drawn in the thinking of Willie Mays and Ty Cobb, both homebats of their day. . . . When Willie was asked what goes through his mind when he whips his arm back for a throw from center field, he replied, "I just throw. If I stop to think, the man will score" . . . and when Cobb, who had perfected 11 sliding variations, was asked how he decided which to use as he was approaching a base, he answered, "I just slide. Who's got time to make up his mind when the fielder's holding the ball?"

A now-it-can-be-told: When Fred Haney took over the Pirates in '33, he confided to us he had only two major leaguers on his entire roster—and neither was Ralph Kincaid. . . . "Why," gasped Fred, "he can't play ball at all." . . .

It was 13 years ago, and Bob Suffridge, the all-time All-America guard from Tennessee, was defending for the Philadelphia Eagles against the Washington Redskins on a point after touchdown attempt. . . . Suffridge burst through the middle to block the kick, but the Eagles were offside. . . . The "Skins" massed the middle, but again the ex-Vol smothered the kick. . . . and again there was an Eagle infraction. . . . So for a third time the Redskins booted, and a third time Suffridge blasted through the cordon of blockers to muffle the boot. . . . It was one of the great defensive sequences in football history, but not a word of it was printed in the newspapers. . . . because that day, Dec. 7, 1951, the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor . . . just 13 years ago. . . .

If you're shopping for a Jan. 1, 1956, Rose Bowl contender, jot down Stanford with an incoming sophomore group reputed to be even better than the Vow Boys of the mid-'30s. . . .

Ask Paul Brown why his team jelled after its sad start, and the first words come out, "Carlton Massey." . . . The former Texas end was made available to the Browns' defense when, instead of being drafted into the Army, he was allowed to transfer his ROTC training to John Carroll University in Cleveland. . . . Brown linebacker Tony Adamie, a medical student at Western Reserve of Cleveland, comes out to practice only on Thursdays, when defense is stressed. . . . The strength of that defensive unit is accentuated by the presence of Ken Gorgal, an all-pro 1953 selection, on the bench because he couldn't crack the combine after missing one game. . . .

The captain of the Browns, Don Colo, is from Brown, an Ivy League rarity in pro football. . . . and a 260-pound defensive tackle who never played high school football. . . . in fact, had to be shown a three-point stance when he went out for college football, by 155-pound line coach Gus Zittides. . . .

Allie Sherman got a boost from 12 to 18 grand re-signing as Winnipeg coach . . . a job he got because his old pro boss, Steve Owen, turned it down and recommended Allie. . . . The American Broadcasting Company dropped $1,700,000

Ameche Heads All-America Football Players to Play For North in Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Five All-America football players, headed by the fabulous Alan Ameche of Wisconsin, will appear for the North team in the sixth annual Senior Bowl game here on Jan. 8.

The 24-man Yankee squad, shooting for a fourth straight win in this annual scuffle, was announced today by Jimmy Pearre of Nashville, Tenn., vice president and general manager of the Senior Bowl Association.

Coached by canny Paul Brown, veteran mentor of the professional Cleveland Browns, the North squad features three men in the backfield and two up front who made the United Press All-America rolls.

In addition to Ameche, whose fullback feats for the Badgers earned him first team mention and are still reaping him individual honors, the All-America backs are Prima Villanueva of UCLA and Bob McNamara, of Minnesota.

Lineman Named
The All-America linemen who'll see action against Steve Owens' South team are end Dean Dugger of Ohio State and guard Tom Bettis of Purdue. The South team, announced last week, also includes five All-America players.

All told, 21 schools will have player representatives on the North squad. Both Rose Bowl elevens are represented, as is Nebraska's Orange Bowl squad. Eight members of the powerful Big Ten conference will have men in the tilt.

Ohio State, runner-up to UCLA in U. P. balloting for national honors, will be represented by quarterback Dave Leggett and center Bob Thornton, in addition to Dugger. Southern California, Ohio State's Rose Bowl foe, placed fullback Lindon Crow on the squad.

Other backfielders
Other backfield stars named are Florian Helinski, Indiana quarterback; fullbacks Corky Taylor of Kansas State and Ron Drzewiecki of Marquette; and fullbacks Dick Young of Chattanooga and Max Burkett of Iowa State.

Joining Dugger at ends are Jim Garrity of Penn State, Andy Nardelli of Fordham and Dick Gaskill of George Washington University. John Damore of Northwest-ern will share the center job with Thornton.

Joe Ray of UCLA heads the tackle contingent which also includes Dick Chorovich of Miami (Ohio), Frank Morze of Boston College, and Don Glantz of Nebraska.

Along with Bettis at guard are three Big Ten standouts. They are Jan Smid of Illinois, Norm Amundson of Wisconsin, and Henry Bulough of Michigan State.

Between you'n' me, did Harry Crab leave the Yankee organization because the Yankee-engineered deal that shifted the A's to Kansas City with a Yank-reared general manager, snubbed him by installing Lou Boudreau as manager?

So far this season, almost most of the teams have a few contests under their belts, only two league games have been played, Centralia beating Marion and Herrin winning from Harrisburg.

But the Friday night card will find Harrisburg at Benton, Mt. Vernon at Marion and Centralia at West Frankfort in South Seven games and Herrin meeting Johnston City on the Tiger floor in a non-loop encounter.

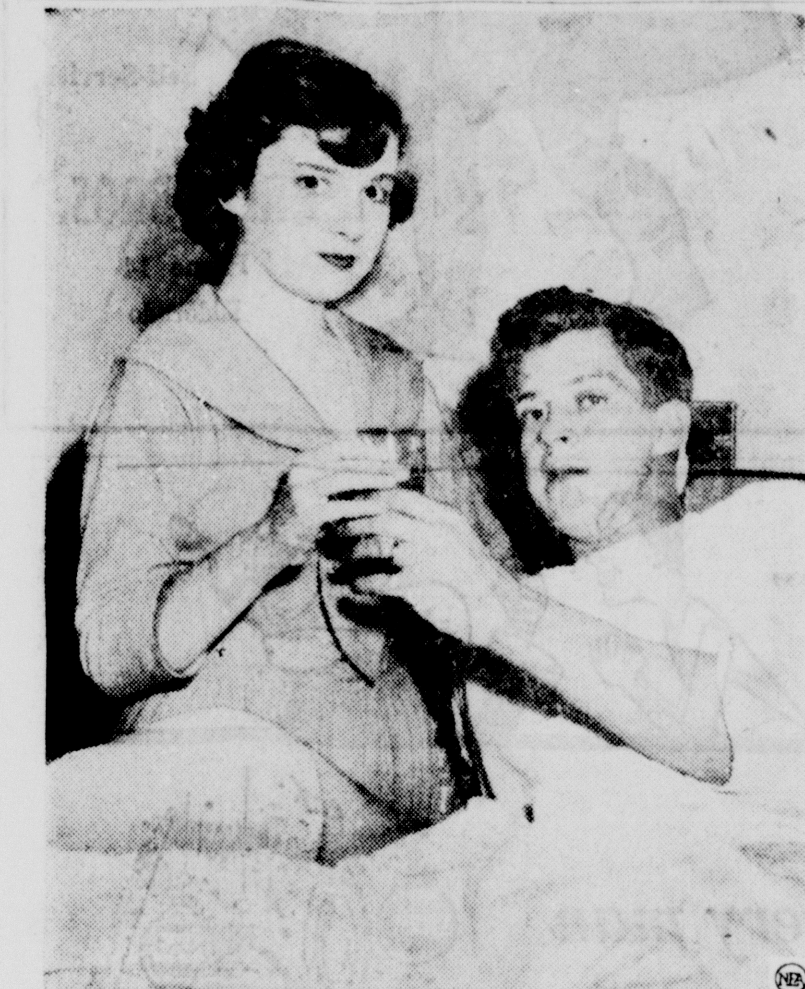

There will be one conference game Saturday night, Herrin at Benton, and in non-conference contests Carrier Mills will be at Harrisburg and Marion will be at Anna Jonesboro.

Coach Gene Bland's Bull Dogs, who came back to beat Eldorado, 62 to 58, after a decisive loss at Herrin, will be meeting Ralph Davidson's Benton quintet which has won two games after dropping the opener, 60 to 45, at Eldorado. Since then Benton has knocked off Christopher, 62 to 41, and Galatia, 66 to 40.

In the victories, best scorers have been Grammer, big center, Zimbleman, Waller and Wertz. Grammer scored 21 against Galatia, eight against Christopher. Zimbleman had 19 against Christopher, 12 against Galatia. Wertz, who scored 12 against Christopher, had four against Galatia. Waller had four against Christopher, 10 against Galatia.

The conference standings:

Team	Won	Lost
Centralia	1	0
Herrin	1	0
Mt. Vernon	0	0
Harrisburg	0	1
Marion	0	1

Frick Favors Third Major League

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, harping on an old pet theory of his today, said the answer to the game's current territorial problems may lie in the establishment of a third major league.

Frick said that a third major league was the most practical way of bringing the Pacific Coast into the big leagues. He also said he thought a third major league could be put into operation within three or four years.

"Expansion to the coast is inevitable and it may be that 10 team leagues for an interim period may be the answer," Frick said. "But eventually there will be enough major population centers available to fill out a complete third eight-team league."

Frick said the majors had been guilty of gross neglect in their operations "and now they're paying for it with one big headache." He added that within four years there would be at least four West Coast cities, Seattle and Portland in addition to Los Angeles and San Francisco, which would be ready to move into the majors.

Miner Admits Dynamiting Railroad Bridge

RICHWOOD, W. Va. (UP)—Thomas W. Bradley, Richwood miner, admitted to police today he planted a dynamite charge which blew up a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad bridge near the strike-bound Maust coal operations at nearby Fenwick.

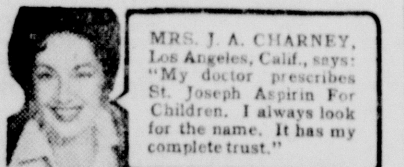

It was the second time a railroad bridge had been dynamited since the strike broke out last Aug. 31. A railroad fireman was killed two months ago when a blast tore up the tracks just before his engine passed over the spot at Bolair, Nicholas County.

Two highway bridges also have been dynamited in the strike-torn central West Virginia coal fields. Trooper Paul Kyer said Bradley was seen leaving the vicinity of the bridge just after the blast Wednesday night. He admitted planting 1½ boxes of mine blasting powder at the base of the 100-foot-long steel trestle but denied that anyone else took part in it, Kyer said.

The B&O spur line which passes over the trestle hauls coal from several mines owned by Ray Maust. The strike broke out in protest over Maust allowing several non-union operations to use his shipping facilities.

Gale-Driven Tides Flood 6,000 Homes in Dublin; 121 Dead in 2-Week Storm

DUBLIN, Ireland (UP)—Gales drove towering tides from the Irish Sea into five square miles of Dublin today, flooding 6,000 homes in one of the city's worst disasters in history.

Gales and storms of tornado force hammering Britain and the surrounding seas raised the storm toll of the last two weeks to 121 persons dead or missing in 16 vessels.

The wind drove tides back up the Liffey and Tolka rivers of this seaside capital city before dawn and sent them cascading into the streets up to depths of five feet. Thousands of residents were forced from their homes. Other thousands were marooned. Electricity and telephone lines toppled and authorities cut off power to prevent electrocutions.

Shortly before noon a municipal spokesman said 6,000 houses had been flooded. He called it Dublin's worst disaster since Republican raiders burned the city during the 1916 anti-British uprising.

A tributary of the Liffey, the Camac River, raced out of its banks in a southwestern suburb, bringing a new flood alert. Forty miles up the Liffey the city of Navan reported floods.

The government called out troops in Dublin and police declared an emergency in five square miles just outside the city's center.

There were no immediate reports of deaths in Dublin, but property damage was great.

Police, firemen and troops joined forces with hundreds of volunteer boatmen to haul stranded families from their homes to emergency hostels, to churches and hospitals.

The storm that hit Dublin roared across the Irish Sea after battering Britain with hurricane-force winds

Drivers Must Improve to Meet S-D Goal

By United Press
Motorists will have to drive a lot more cautiously than they did Wednesday to make national Safe Driving Day a success next Wednesday, a death count showed today.

A United Press tally showed that 65 persons were killed during the 24-hour period which ended at midnight Wednesday.

The goal of S-D Day next Wednesday is a perfect record of no deaths and no accidents.

Injuries reported Wednesday numbered 279, but the total was far from complete. Based on the known ratio of 32 injuries to every death, the projected total would be 2,085.

S-D Day is sponsored by the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety. President Eisenhower himself announced the drive Nov. 16, and called on every American to:

1. Follow common sense rules of good sportsmanship and courtesy.
2. Obey traffic regulations.
3. Resolve to stay alert and careful.

The United Press ran a test tally Wednesday as a basis for comparison with the toll next Wednesday.

Illinois led all other states in traffic deaths Wednesday with eight. Three of the victims died in a single grade crossing accident.

California was second with seven. New York, Texas, Kentucky and Maryland each had four.

Joseph B. Keenan, Lindbergh Law Author, Dies

ASHEBORO, N. C. (UP)—Joseph B. Keenan, the man who wrote the Lindbergh kidnaping law and who served as chief U. S. prosecutor at the Japanese war crimes trial after World War II, died here Wednesday at the age of 66.

Keenan, a member of the law firm of Keenan and West in Washington, D. C., and a resident of Chevy Chase, Md., was visiting a friend, Joseph Bosong, here when he suffered a fatal heart attack.

A native of Pawtucket, R. I., Keenan began his career investigating crime conditions in Cleveland, Ohio. He served with the Justice Department, for many years, and became assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division.

In that position, he was credited with writing the famous Lindbergh law which allowed the federal government to step into kidnaping cases and provide a death penalty for kidnapers. He prosecuted George (Machine Gun) Kelly and other gangsters for the kidnaping of wealthy oil man Charles Urschel in 1933.

Five Doctors Report Pope's Condition Better

VATICAN CITY (UP)—Five doctors who held a two-hour consultation at the bedside of ailing Pope Pius XII tonight announced that the condition of the pontiff has grown steadily better.

They issued a communique through the Vatican Press Office.

It said the Pope's aggravating and weakening hiccups have disappeared and that it has become possible to resume direct feeding again.

The doctors said that as soon as conditions permit, an accurate X-ray examination of the Pope's digestive system will be made.

The communique said the doctors released the following report: What the Doctors Found

"As had been expected the state of health of the holy father in the last few days has markedly and progressively improved.

"The disturbances have disappeared, including the hiccups, and it has become possible to resume gradual direct feeding. This has led to a satisfactory restoration of strength.

"He has, to a great extent, resumed restful sleeping.

"The condition of his respiratory and circulatory system remain good, as does the haematosis absorption of oxygen into the blood."

Earlier today the Pope received the man many Roman Catholics believe eventually will succeed him as spiritual leader of the church.

The ailing pontiff embraced his old friend and aide, Msgr. Giovanni Battista Montini, archbishop-elect of Milan and former Vatican pro-secretary of state.

Increase Purses for Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—The 1955 Kentucky Derby was slated today to be the richest race in the 80-year history of the turf classic after directors of Churchill Downs decided to increase the purses as well as the fees.

The next Derby, to be run Saturday, May 7, will have added money totaling $125,000, up $25,000, with the track guaranteeing purses worth $142,500.

The owner of the 1955 Derby winner will collect $100,000 and the runner-up $25,000. The third place horse will receive $12,500 and the fourth place finisher $5,000.

The increased purses will result in a higher schedule of nominating and entry fees, costing the owner of each horse $1,600 to get him to the starting gate.

Register Uses Microfilm Process To Preserve Its Newspaper Files

Will Replace Large Volumes Stored in Vault

A new method for the preservation of newspaper files, both for their reference and historical value, has been instituted at The Harrisburg Daily Register.

Although the process, known as microfilming, is not new to the general public or the newspaper industry, The Register is one of the pioneering small city dailies embarking on the revolutionary program.

In the past, files of the current year's issue have always been sent to a bindery and bound in two or more huge books. These are stored in the fireproof vault at The Register office for reference and as a history of the community and the newspaper itself.

Each Page Photographed With the passing of years, the bound volumes continue to require more and more storage space. Furthermore, the pages deteriorate from age and handling, making the older—and consequently more valuable—copies less readable and useful.

The new program calls for the shipment of a current year's issues to a photographic processing laboratory instead of the bindery. Here, each page is photographed and as many as 800 pages—a third to a half year's issues—are placed on a single 35mm reel which can be stored in one 4 inch x 4 inch x 1 1/2 inch box.

The laboratory makes both a negative and a positive copy of each page. The positive reel is shipped to The Daily Register where it may be used in lieu of the heavy bound files. The negative is retained by the processing laboratory in its huge storage vaults. Should any misfortune befall those at The Register office, duplicates can be obtained.

Add Kodagraph Film Reader It is interesting to note that throughout the country the metropolitan newspapers and state libraries have changed to this system only in the past decade. And that the Illinois State Historical Library, which maintains files of most newspapers in the state, has switched to this space-saving system. Beginning with next year's issues, the Illinois State Historical Library will retain The Daily Register on microfilm instead of by bound volume as in the past.

To complete the new process, The Daily Register has added a Kodagraph film reader. This new machine has attracted the attention of numerous persons visiting The Register office during the past few months.

The film reader is simply a viewer on which the reels—bearing imprints of the fully photographed pages of The Register—are placed.

It has an opaque screen, tilted at an angle for easy reading, with no more eyestrain than a regular book. The machine also features a constant focus scanning device and movement of the film in normal progressive reading manner. Since instituting the program, The Register has had issues from Jan. 2, 1947 to Dec. 31, 1953, microfilmed. Shortly after the first of the year, the complete year of 1954 will be on film, also. In addition to these, The Register has some copies of the Saline County Register, between 1898 and 1906, on film.

In the future years, the newspaper will endeavor to have a few of the older files microfilmed each year until all are processed from the year 1915.

Traffic World Hails Report on Southern Illinois

The economic resources and industrial advantages of southern Illinois, recently brought to public attention by the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad, are hailed in the current issue of Traffic World, trade magazine for the railroad and transportation industry.

In an article describing the recent C & E I survey of the economic and industrial potential of southern Illinois, the magazine points out that in the past, the development of southern Illinois has been largely dependent upon the coal industry while most other substantial resources have been neglected.

According to Arthur Longini, chief economist for the C & E I, who is quoted in the article, the southern Illinois area has a large pool of available manpower, and is rich in mineral, forest and agricultural resources, with highly developed transportation systems and outstanding utility services, located near major markets and industrial supply centers.

Opportunities for Industry

"The combination provides outstanding opportunities for profitable establishment of many industries," Longini said.

Since 1947, according to the C & E I survey, the number of manufacturers in southern Illinois has increased 20 per cent, as compared with a national increase of 7.5 per cent. The area has a particularly "friendly climate" to manufacturing, the article points out. The C & E I report declares that industrial opportunities exist in the following fields, among others: Food, tobacco, textile, apparel, lumber, paper, printing, chemical, rubber, leather, stone, primary metal, fabricated metal, and machinery. There also is room for expansion in the warehousing field, the story states.

The Traffic World article adds: "C. M. Roddewig, C & E I president, is greatly encouraged by the railroad's expanded industrial development activities and results to date. Of the future of industrial development along the lines of the C & E I, he says:

"I am convinced there will be great industrial growth in the United States during the next decade. The C & E I serves Illinois and Indiana territories with economic advantages of such scope that in this expansion they stand to gain materially."

Second Survey

"Industrial development activities are among the most important traffic functions of our railroad. Our well-organized development department, equipped with publications making business sense in describing our area, is playing a major role in the railroad's business growth."

The economic survey of southern Illinois is the second undertaken by the C & E I. The first was concerned with the industrial potentialities of Evansville, Indiana, and the third, now in the process of preparation, will deal with the lower Wabash river valley.

Rush Entries To Meet Film Oscars' Deadline

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Oscar time is two months away, but movie studios are rushing entries into local theaters to beat the Dec. 31 deadline.

To be eligible for competition, entries must be shown in the Los Angeles area before the end of the year. Hence audiences are treated to a downpour of Academy Award-type pictures during the holiday season.

Paramount held "Country Girl" for a graceful end-of-the-year entrance. Italy sent over its "Romeo and Juliet." Even a Japanese film, "Hell Gate," is booked for this month in an effort to qualify for the best foreign language film prize. "Deep in My Heart," "Sign of the Pagan," "There's No Business Like Show Business" and "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" also fought for bookings to make the Oscar deadline.

Other Ladies in Running
With most Academy Award entries in, this year's Oscar race shapes up as a close match between Grace Kelly and Judy Garland for the best actress honors and Marlon Brando, Humphrey Bogart and Bing Crosby for the best actor statuette.

On my list Miss Kelly does the best job, in "Country Girl," and Brando should win for "On the Waterfront." But if voters mark their ballots with sentiment or popularity in mind, Crosby may win for "Country Girl" and big-eyed Judy for her comeback picture, "A Star Is Born."

Other contenders for the ladies' statuette may be Jennifer Jones, "Indiscretion of An American Wife"; Ava Gardner, "The Barefoot Contessa"; Eva Marie Saint, "On the Waterfront," and Audrey Hepburn, "Sabrina."

Made Fewer Pictures
There are more and better male candidates — William Holden in "Country Girl," Fredric March in "Executive Suite," James Mason in "A Star Is Born" and Bogart, a heavy favorite for "The Caine Mutiny."

Hopefuls for the supporting actor Oscar are many, including Rod Stiger, "Waterfront"; Fred MacMurray, "The Caine Mutiny"; Jack Carson, "A Star Is Born," and Edmund O'Brien, "The Barefoot Contessa."

This year's Academy race is unusual in that Hollywood produced fewer pictures, concentrating on bigger screens. "Country Girl" and "Waterfront," both on old-fashioned black-and-white normal screens, were the top films on my list, with "Indiscretion of An American Wife," "Rear Window," "Seven Brides," "Knock on Wood" and "Sabrina" following.

The 1954 pictures I least enjoyed, and I duck, were "A Star Is Born," "Magnificent Obsession," "The Egyptian," "Brigadoon" and "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

Indiana Legislature Advised to Increase State Gasoline Taxes

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—An increase in state gasoline taxes was recommended to the 1955 Indiana Legislature today by the State Legislative Advisory Commission.

The commission made no specific suggestion of the amount of increase but left it up to the Legislature.

The present tax is four cents a gallon. In addition, the federal government levies a two-cent tax.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

This is the time of year when it is a good idea to start using a little lighter foot on the accelerator. For the next three or four months you will always be facing the possibility of bad driving conditions—snow, rain, ice, poor visibility.

tires or similar devices—there is no substitute for reduced speed under those conditions. That kind of equipment helps, but it cannot give you the degree of control you have over your car on dry pavement.

The safe way is the slower way. You have more time to bring your car to a stop, there is less danger of skidding and if you should skid, it will be easier to pull your car out of it.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Fill Her Stocking, With Little Extras

For your particular Christmas "she," make her stocking extra-plump this year, by giving her many little useful accessories, rather than just one gift.

In addition to the note of excitement this manifold gift offers, there's the extra thrill of selecting such items a gal doesn't normally splurge for herself.

For her purse — tricky coin purses, pill box, pocket flashlight, fitted cosmetic kit, a jeweled comb, a lipstick mirror — a personal-sized ashtray — are but a few of the accessories that a girl will admire and use.

For her desk or purse — a memo book, address book with pencil, a new pen or pen set — or, give her a box of note paper or stationery with her name imprinted! These are some gifts that can mean more — yet are just pin-money priced.

Conversation-making gifts for the high-school and college girl are appearing throughout the accessory departments. There are cuddly little collars of frosty white angora, colorful rib-knit turtleneck fill-ins for scoop-neck dresses or sweaters. To go with the popular shirt fashions and high-necked sweaters, a leading scarf designer is presenting "old-school ties" decorated with rhinestones and sequin sparklers.

When gift shopping, watch for the long striped scarf that is knitted in leading college colors! Also in college colors and bright solid shades — a snug stocking cap that is long enough to wrap around the neck several times and is finished with a huge wool tassel.

Santa's Spotlight on Creative Toys

New career toys figure prominently in Santa's collection this year as well as handcraft kits for the child interested in creative play. This youngster is making his own antique locomotive (upper left). The plastic parts in the locomotive kit are numbered for easy assembly. For a little girl, nothing could be more fun than a kit to make her own party hats (upper right). There's one for making miniature leather handbags and pearl jewelry, too. The boy who chases fire engines can do it with ease on his own fire-chief bicycle (lower left). For the small girl who's outgrowing her clothes quickly, there's a new doll and carriage (lower right) with an adjustable handle that's sure to see her through several seasons. The rag doll has a big-eyed plastic face.

Gifts for the Man In Your Life Are Truly Varied

Here is—Christmas "Male Call"—and time to settle down to what to buy for that man of yours. First check his wardrobe needs — shirts? Remember when you shop that he has favorite style notes — such as French cuffs, a particular collar style, pattern and color preferences. If sport shirts are what he needs, think before you buy him long-or short sleeved styles; rayons, wools, cottons or others. When it comes to ties—color and pattern should be your primary considerations. Is he conservative, daring or middle-of-the-road? Let the tie you select reflect his taste, not yours! Hosiery can make every man happy; pajamas, miracle fiber shorts, easy-to-slip-into terry robes, and flannel ones, all find favor with the men. For his dress-up times, new designs in jewelry accessories make gift choosing of smart, cuff-links, tie bars, belts, billfolds, pocket accessories and key chains an interesting hunt. For good grooming—toilet kits, fitted or not—clothes brushes, military brush sets, electric razors, or ever-favorite safety razors — manicure kits, stud boxes, shoe shine kits—and others, find favor with the meticulous man. If he spends a lot of time outdoors in pursuit of business, a nylon raincoat that folds into a compact, pocket-size kit, makes a practical, welcome gift. Give him the luxury of a smart, zephyr wool or cashmere sweater, a dresy wool jersey sport shirt or gift of a luxurious suede jacket. For his relaxation times, give him a poker chip and rack set — a miniature roulette set, a complete game chest that has checkers, chess, and other games included. Hardly any man these days, ever turns up his nose at a gift of fine toiletries—so, from "male-flavour" colognes, after-shave lotions

Study Shows Women Hopeful on Marriage

NEW YORK — Women have a rosier outlook than men on marriage.

So reports a New York market research firm, which asked 1,200 men and women to give the first word which came to their mind at the mention of marriage. The researchers said words indicating a happy attitude — such as "wedding," "children," "love" and

Yule Tip to Men: Have Scents Sense

NEW YORK — Men usually find one perfume they like and then give it to each woman on their Christmas gift list.

This is the wrong approach, one male authority warns.

"Women like to feel they're wearing an exclusive scent," explained Pierre Harang, "Select a different fragrance for the ladies on your list, especially those who know one another."

Harang, a volatile Frenchman who is vice president of a leading perfume company, has several helpful suggestions for picking right perfumes for different women.

"If you don't know the lady well and don't know her preference, stick to the well known classics and steer away from extremes," he advised.

"Chances are a housewife would appreciate a perfume she could wear everyday to help take the monotony out of her daily routine. A floral scent is appropriate," he said.

"A perfume that is somewhat oriental in scent is good for a woman with a busy social life. It is sophisticated, heady and intense."

"A young girl should be given a perfume with a clean, fresh citrus note."

The executive who gives his secretary perfume, Harang concluded, better make sure it's suitable for daytime wear. Then he won't have exotic fragrance wafting across a solemn business conference.

President John Tyler was married twice during his lifetime and was the father of seven children by each wife.

"happiness" — were mentioned more frequently by women. "The men," the research firm said, "thought of such terms as divorce."
